

Lines Are Drawn
For Battle Over
Labor Legislation

Brotherhood Leaders Hold
a Conference With President Today.

TO OPPOSE ANTI-STRIKE LAW

Unions Are Expected to Bitterly Oppose Enactment of Compulsory Arbitration Measure; Concerted Effort for General Strike Law Expected.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—While it was stated they came only to "pay their respects," the heads of the four great railway brotherhoods made an engagement at the White House to confer with President Wilson late in the afternoon.

It was expected that the eight-hour day fight and probably plans for the co-operation of the brotherhoods with the American Federation of Labor, would be discussed if only briefly.

The leaders will see the President at 5:45 P. M. and at 6 o'clock the President will confer with Representative Adamson, author of the eight-hour law and vice chairman of the joint Congressional committee, which began an investigation of the railroad situation today.

In the President's address to Congress next month he will make recommendations for the resumption of the legislative program which was interrupted when Congress adjourned.

The brotherhood leaders oppose that part of the President's recommendations which proposes investigations of railroad controversies before a strike or lockout is permitted. The American Federation of Labor has also gone on record against the recommendation.

Representative Casey of Pennsylvania, who acted as go-between in the negotiations of its brotherhood leaders and administration officials at the time the Adamson bill was up for passage in the House, arrived here today and expected to have a conference with the labor men during the afternoon. Mr. Casey said he had been confering with Democratic leaders on the railroad labor situation.

Brotherhood officials held a short meeting soon after noon and discussed the situation and the plans for their visit to President Wilson.

HOMERS IS SILENT.
BALTIMORE, Nov. 20.—President
Samuel Homers of the American Federation of Labor refused today to comment on the reported plan for amalgamation of the four railroad brotherhoods with other railway organizations who are affiliated with the federation of labor in a combined effort for an eight-hour day.

The federation executive council already has reported to the convention that the railroad brotherhoods were "assured of the support and the cooperation of the American Federation of Labor in their struggle."

WILLARD WANTS HIGHER RATES.
BALTIMORE, Nov. 20.—President
Daniel Willard of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad told the stockholders of the company at their annual meeting here today that higher rates should be granted the carriers if they are to be expected to carry on their program of expansion and development in accordance with the demands of the business needs of the nation. He did not allude to the night hour question.

Mr. Willard reviewed business conditions and what the railroads are doing to meet the situation. He called attention to the constantly increasing expenses of operation resulting from higher rates of pay for labor and the steady rise in the cost of material, as well as the demands upon the railroad in other ways.

CANNED GOODS
SCARCE IN N. Y.

Less Than One-Third of Normal Supply Will Be Available This Winter.

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Retail grocers complain of a shortage of canned goods and some predict that only one-third of the normal supply will be available in New York this winter.
Many grocers are running out of their supplies of standard, widely advertised canned products, declared a trustee of the retail grocers' association, and are unable to replenish their stocks.

One reason advanced for the shortage is that many of the big canning factories, especially on the Atlantic seaboard, have contracted to send their entire output to the warring nations in Europe.

EYES BEER COSTS MORE.
CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—Practically all of the bars in the downtown district of Chicago today raised the price of beer by serving it in glasses twice the size of those heretofore.

A number of downtown lunch rooms also announced increases of 5 cents each on such orders as ham and eggs, bacon and eggs and small steaks,
while pies formerly cut into five sections hereafter are to be divided into six.

TELL WILSON OF COAL FAMINE.
MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Nov. 20.— Residents of this city are in such straits on account of the shortage in the coal supply that they have made a formal appeal to President Wilson for relief. A committee of citizens sent the following telegram to the President:

"Mountains of mine coal stand at all great terminals, yet our local dealers are unable to secure any to supply the necessary requirements here. Citizens here appeal to you for help."

Citizens, Is Honored by His Friends.

Adam R. Humbert, the first resident of Confluence, celebrated his 80th birthday at his home on Odon street, Sunday in the presence of his sons and daughters and many other relatives and friends. Mr. Humbert, who recently recovered from an attack of illness, was able to join heartily in everything that went on.

Mr. Humbert was born in Milford township, Somerset county, on November 10, 1835. He learned the carpenter's trade at an early age and followed it for many years. He built the first house ever erected in Confluence.
When the Civil War broke out he enlisted and served during the conflict.

Prior to enlisting he had become an undertaker and when the war closed he again took up this business. At the present time he is the oldest funeral director in Somerset county.

Mr. Humbert married Miss Maria J.
Bowlin of Henry Clay township, who died July 12, 1903. The following children and grandchildren attended the celebration: Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Sanner and five children of Cumberland;
Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Humbert and three children of Confluence; Charles B.
Humbert and his sister, Mrs. H. P.
Hansen, both of Confluence. Mr.
Humbert was presented with two birthday cakes by his grandson Ray H. Sanner of Cumberland with 30 candles on it, and the other baked by his granddaughter, Miss Ruth N.
Humbert of Confluence. Each made an appropriate presentation speech.
The centerpiece of the birthday dinner table was a bouquet of chrysanthemums presented by his son, Charles B. Humbert.

driven from the western part of Grandcourt.

COTTON WASTE HIGH

Machine Shops Compelled to Use
Baled Rags for Wiping Purposes.

Managers of machine shops, garages and other places where cotton waste is used in large quantities, are complaining of the big advance in price.
White waste now sells for 16 cents a pound, while a year ago it could be purchased for a few cents a pound.
Some shops are buying baled rags and using them in place of waste.

Cotton waste is the third most important item in the cotton industry.
The demand for cotton products has increased to such an extent since the war began that cotton manufacturers find they can get more money from what was formerly waste than by merely baling it up and selling it to machine shops.

BOARD OF TRADE AT ROCKWOOD IS BOOSTING TOWN

in View.

NEW INDUSTRIES THE AIM

Expert Will Address the Members in Near Future on Commercial Development Plans; Hopes Sign to be Erected Making Town a Live Wire.

Special to The Courier.

ROCKWOOD, Nov. 20.—Rockwood Board of Trade held the most enthusiastic meeting in its history Saturday evening, when a large number of representative citizens were present. President H. W. Musser, presided at the monthly session, which was held in the school auditorium. The high school orchestra, under the capable direction of Principal H. S. Waltersberger, furnished an evening selection for the occasion.

A feature of the deliberations was the numerous addresses given, since all members of the board at one time or other participated in the discussion of town-building projects. A comprehensive and aggressive campaign for the upbuilding of Rockwood was launched. Secretary H. H. Shumaker was instructed to engage an expert to address the local trade board on the subject of "Feasible Industrial Development" at a meeting in the near future. From previous exchange of correspondence, the secretary assured the board that an appointment with the industrial specialist can be arranged. It was stated, was formerly paid a $10,000 per annum salary by a big syndicate. Much is therefore expected from his visit to Rockwood, which will no doubt mark the opening of a campaign for special civic improvements.

The advertising committee was given suggestions how to boost Rockwood. It was delegated authority to erect a 10x30 foot sign board at the Baltimore & Ohio depot, upon which is to be suitably inscribed the town's attractive inducements to prospective manufacturers and others who may want to locate here. Some of the advantages that the sign will suggest to the public are as follows: Excellent railroad facilities, accessible geographical location, pure "hard spring" water supply, sanitary sewage system, well lighted business houses, residences and streets, modern schools, diversified churches, progressive citizens, valuable coal deposits, scenic natural surroundings and healthful climate. This finger board of publicity will also announce that Rockwood more than doubled its population within the past decade. The Rockwood Electric Company has offered current gratis to illuminate this novel bureau of information by night.

Letters from President Willard and other Baltimore & Ohio officials, relative to the building of the new future of a new depot at Rockwood were read. A new freight station was promised in the same letter.

County Agricultural Agent McDowell will be invited to address the farmers' meeting at Rockwood on live topics after the holidays. An illustrated lecture on tuberculosis is also being arranged to be given in the Ridenour moving picture theatre.

Dr. C. J. Hemminger, chairman of the railroad committee, reported that he met and conferred with a special representative of the Baltimore & Ohio who had come to Rockwood to investigate complaints by the board about the old station house. The railroad official, the doctor said, admitted the urgent need of a new depot here. Resolutions were unanimously adopted thanking Captain W. Curtis Truxill, Lieutenant C. J. Harrison, Jr., and Mess Sargent P. G. Coler, officers of Company C, N. G. P. of Somerset, for their having delivered addresses at a banquet given here recently in honor of home soldier and marine boys, and the Somerset Drum Corps, C. F. Cook, leader, for appropriate martial music during the banquet. Chairman of committees reported as follows: For constitution and by-laws, H. H. Shumaker; for railroad, Dr. C. J. Hemminger; for membership enrollment, J. D. Snyder; for teamsters' convenience, N. P. Meyers; for merchants, B. F. Phillips, H. E. Miller, J. D. Locke, J. G. Enos and H. A. Miller; for advertising, R. S. Warner, W. M. G. Day, W. D. Conway and Dr. C. T. Saylor; for social, U. S. Warner.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.

These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Most headaches, "biliousness" and thaticky feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lumpy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" the system and how slow "perk up" the spirits. 10c and 25c a box. All druggists.

ORE THE STAKE

Famous Iron and Coal Fields of Alsace-Lorraine One of War's Prizes.

Corroboration of the belief that the enormous fields of iron ore and coal in Alsace-Lorraine form one of the biggest prizes at stake in today's struggle in Europe comes from the report made to the American Industrial Commission to France by M. E. Zeller of Youngstown, Pa. His inspection of iron and steel business in France revealed a shortage of coal there, and he mentions that when in Marseilles the chamber of commerce called attention to the expectation that France would be in a position to export much iron ore from Algeria to the United States in return for cargoes of American coal.

At the close of the Franco-Prussian war Germany's acquisition of the vast ore and coal fields in Alsace-Lorraine contributed largely to the development of the iron and steel industries in Germany to the point where that nation ranked second in the world's production.

The observer from America reports that iron and steel manufacturers of France and others connected with the government expressed their conviction that the war will not end until the mineral riches of Alsace-Lorraine are won back by France.

DRINK HOT WATER IF YOU DESIRE A ROSY COMPLEXION

Says we can't help but look better and feel better after an inside bath.

To look one's best and feel one's best is to enjoy an inside bath each morning to flush from the system the previous day's waste, sour fermentations and poisonous toxins before it is absorbed into the blood. Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of incalculable material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken each day leave in the alimentary organs a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not eliminated, form toxins and poisons which are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which are intended to suck in only nourishment to sustain the body.

If you want to see the glow of healthy blood in your cheeks, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, you are old to drink every morning upon arising, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless means of washing the waste material and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract, before pushing more food into the stomach.

Men and women with sallow skins, liver spots, pimples, or pallid complexion, also those who wake up with a coated tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, others who are bothered with headaches, bilious spells, acid stomach or constipation should begin this phosphate hot water drinking, and are assured of very pronounced results in one or two weeks.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, purifies and freshens the skin on the outside, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the inside organs. We must always consider that internal sanitation is vastly more important than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.-Adv.

GUARD YOUR CHILDREN AGAINST DISEASE

Infantile paralysis, scarlet fever, diphtheria, and other dreaded diseases of children can be guarded against. Medical and health authorities everywhere advise gargling and spraying of the nose and throat, whenever a child shows symptoms of having a cold or whenever epidemics are prevalent in the neighborhood. The gargling and spraying should be done with a safe and powerful antiseptic. Physicians find some difficulty in recommending one which is powerful enough and yet can safely be kept where children are likely to get hold of it. Since the discovery of Hyclorite, this difficulty has been overcome.

Five to ten drops of Hyclorite in a glass of water, have given unsurpassed results as a spray and gargle in places where epidemics of infantile paralysis and scarlet fever occurred and in winter and spring when diphtheria is prevalent. Hyclorite is a solution of sodium hypochlorite. A U. S. Government report has been published showing that 130 antiseptics were recently tested in military hospitals of Europe and sodium hypochlorite is declared by the surgeons to be the most efficient and economical of them all.

Although many times more powerful than the harmful antiseptics which contain poison, acid, mercury, or dangerous preservatives, Hyclorite is even safer than the weak and ineffective peroxide. It is clean, clear and harmless—but powerful.

It is excellent for burns, is unsurpassed for cuts and wounds, as a mouth wash and as a general family antiseptic. Any druggist can supply you with Hyclorite in 25 and 50-cent bottles.

Francis Joseph, Weary of State Cares, Plans to Make Co-Regent of Heirs

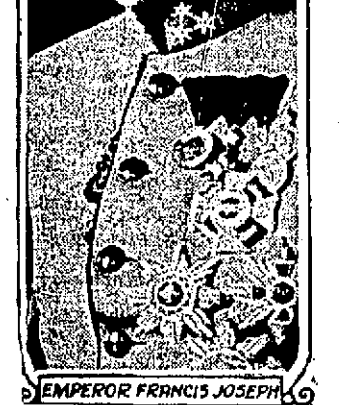

ARCHDUKE CHARLES FRANCIS JOSEPH

ARCHDUCHESS ZITA

London reported that according to the Vossische Zeitung of Berlin an unconfirmed dispatch from Vienna said that Emperor Francis Joseph would issue on December 2, the occasion of the 68th anniversary of the beginning of his reign, a proclamation making Archduke Charles Francis Joseph, heir apparent to the throne, co-regent of the empire.

Archduke Charles Francis Joseph, who is a grandnephew of the emperor, became heir to the throne of Austria-Hungary by the assassination of Archduke Francis Ferdinand, his uncle, just prior to the outbreak of the war. Archduke Charles has had command on the eastern front, especially in Galicia, and in the Italian theatre. At present he is in command of the combined German and Austro-Hungarian forces in the Carpathians had along the Transylvanian frontier.

Francis Ferdinand was a nephew of the aged emperor, Francis Joseph, who will be 87 years old if he lives until August 18 next. Reports of his illness and weariness of the cares of state have been numerous in recent years, especially since the outbreak of the war. It has even been reported that Francis Joseph was dead and his death was concealed from the public.

EMPEROR FRANCIS JOSEPH

Austro-Hungarians for fear of a revolution, but all such reports received no credence.

The coming co-regent will be 30 years old on August 17 next. His full name is Charles Francis Joseph Louis Hubert George Otto Maria, and he is the son of the late Archduke Otto, brother of Francis Ferdinand. Like all members of the house of Hapsburg, Charles Francis Joseph is a Roman Catholic.

In 1911, Archduke Charles Francis Joseph was married to the Princess Zita of the house of Parma, and four sons have been born to the couple. The oldest is Francis Joseph Otto, born in 1912. The name of the name of the youngest son, born in June of the present year, has not been made known, owing to the disturbed conditions of wartime. The house of Parma, to which the Archduchess Zita belongs by birth, is a branch of the Bourbons, now settled in Austria. The Archduchess is the twelfth of the 13 brothers and sisters of Prince Henry of Parma, present head of the house.

COULDN'T FOOL HIM TWICE

Experience Proved That There Was Nothing "Just As Good" as Father John's Medicine for Colds and Throat Troubles and As a Body Builder

The victim of an unscrupulous druggist in a Pennsylvania town says that when he asked for Father John's Medicine the druggist persuaded him to take something else which was "just as good," according to the clerk.

"I might just as well have taken so much water," this writer continues. I afterward went back and got Father John's Medicine and in a short time I felt the good effects. It increased my weight, gave me strength and helped my bronchial trouble.

In some localities this practice of substitution by druggists is an evil practice of vast proportions. The unscrupulous druggist who forces upon you a different preparation when you call for Father John's Medicine is doing you an injury.

Remember that Father John's Medicine is a doctor's prescription, pure and wholesome, free from opium, morphine, chloroform or any other dangerous drugs or alcohol and with a history of more than 50 years' success in the treatment of colds, throat troubles and as a tonic and body builder.

Begin taking it today; it will make you strong.

HARVARD TEAM READY FOR YALE

Opens of Two Big Colleges to Clash in Bowl.

SHOULD BE GREAT BATTLE

For First Time Since 1911 Ell Will Be Represented by a Powerful Eleven Against Crimson—Cambridge Team
Appears Very Strong.

Despite the fact that the big Army-Navy game is to be played on the same day the eyes of the football world are centered on the outcome of the Yale-Harvard battle at the big bowl in New Haven—Nov. 25—on this contest the championship of the east future, and one may class it as the final big game of the season, although Cornell tackles Pennsylvania in their annual Thanksgiving day gridiron mixup.

As the date draws closer the outlook for one of those old time Yale-Harvard games—a real contest in which each side is very much in the fight down to the final whistle—becomes brighter. It is several years since the Ells have been able to make that autumn game much of a contest—back in 1911, to be exact. In the four intervening games between these two rivals the crimson won decisively each time. Harvard's victories were won by scores of 20 to 0, 15 to 0, 30 to 0 and 41 to 0. Indications point to better things for the spectator and for Yale this season, even though the game may not result in a victory for the Ells.

Two conditions, apparently, passed, were responsible for these one-sided games. Yale dropped below mediocre in football after years of unparalleled success at the game, years of leadership. In fact, as the New Haven university retrograded in the gridiron sport, Harvard came up with a flock of the greatest football players ever gathered in one field. Brickley and Mahan were but two stars of a galaxy of bright luminaries. Hardwick, Logan, Trumbull, Pennock, Seely, Bradley, Watson, Coolidge, Franke, Wallace, Storer, Gilman and Parson were stars of a high order. Coached by the best that football affords, it is no wonder that the Crimson was able to ride rough shod over the disorganized Yale teams, rendered weaker by a shifting coaching system.

This season shows Yale has apparently gained her old place as a football power and Harvard receding somewhat from its super strength of recent years. Harvard's present team is no waiting, and Eddie Casey may yet prove himself as great as any of his recent predecessors under the Crimson spotlight. But until the 1916 team at Cambridge shows more steadiness than it has shown to date, it must, under by comparison with the teams captured by Storer, Brickley and Mahan. Captain Dudson has a strong team, strong enough perhaps to win the only remaining big game, but it is likely to encounter more opposition at New Haven on Nov. 25 than any Harvard team has had from Yale since 1911.

CLUBS TO CUT EXPENSES.

Baseball Players' Salaries to Fall the Next Season.

No one likes to be under fire, but some of the farsighted baseball men are frank enough to admit that the criticism of certain features of the recent world's championship games, while rather severe, will help to bring about some much needed baseball reforms.

For one thing, it is almost certain now that there will be a general cutting down of salaries this winter. The numerous strikes the players showed in the world's series, when they made thinly veiled charges that the national commission and the club owners were not giving them a square deal on the ticket sale, served to crystallize sentiment for a reduction all along the line. It will be a hard blow for the athletes, but it was sure to come.

As one club owner put it recently: "The ball players are letting money madness carry them away. Of course they are in the game for money, but there was a time when they appeared to make it a secondary consideration and showed some love for the sport itself."

But big purses and big money in every department of the game have tended to ruin the spirit of the players, just as it has got the best of some of the club owners. It has simply got to be stopped.

Every one wants to see the players get their share. The players in the world's series probably thought they had a just complaint, but they chose a bad time to make a complaint on money matters when every move of the series was being closely watched. Their charges left a bad odor to the series.

But the incident merely served to crystallize sentiment. The club owners have been set on reducing salaries. They merely wanted an excuse, and the world's series incident sufficed to put the plan in motion.

As a matter of fact, baseball is in a condition that frequently exists in the stock market. Its values are highly inflated. Particularly the salary lists are too big, for while one or two clubs in each league can make money the others must go on losing from year to year. The manager, minus squeeze of the water out of their stocks, is it were.

Baseball for the past year has been flying down the evils created by the Federal league, for the two years' fight against the Feds club owners went far out of bounds in money matters. They were forced to create a false standard of values. They not only paid enormous salaries, but they paid too high prices for players, and the whole scheme will have to be adjusted before the game gets back to a normal setting.

There are a few ball players who are worth $10,000 or $15,000 a year, but you can count them on the fingers of your two hands. To be worth that much a player must have strong enough personality to be a drawing card at the gate in addition to being a good player.

There are not many such players. A lot of high class players have little drawing power. A lot of them are getting more money than they ever bring in at the gate, and in the last analysis they must be paid according to the gate receipts.

Blackburn Going Good.

It looks as if Earl Blackburn, the catcher who was with the Cincinnati Reds three years ago, had returned to the big league to stay awhile. His showing toward the end of the season made a great impression on George Stallings of the Boston Braves.

Squash Tennis Meet Feb. 3.

The annual tennis season will begin in New York on Nov. 21. The annual championships, in which clubs of Philadelphia, Boston, New York and other experts participate, will be held in the Yale club at New York on Feb. 3 next.

CAPTAIN BLACK OF YALE ONE OF THE BEST GUARDS THIS SEASON

FOOTBALL experts who have watched the Yale eleven play in practice and the early games are of the opinion that the blue team will capture this year's championship. Captain Black, who has put on considerable weight since last season, has been putting up a strong game at left guard. According to critics at New Haven, he should be the best guard in the east this year.

HAWAII'S GREAT SWIMMER.

Harold Kruger is Now Talk of the Aquatic World.

Hawaiian aquatic experts have gone daily over the performance of Harold Kruger, an eighteen-year-old boy. This young champion is versatile. He can swim the 100 yards in time better than one minute. He can negotiate the far-lous in 2 minutes 40 seconds, he can swim the 500 yard event in close to 4 minutes 17 seconds and is a star in both the back stroke distances. In addition to this, he is an excellent diver.

Pictures show Hawaii's youngest world's champion at play. Many say that the play is work, and following Harold H. Kruger through a day of training isn't the easiest thing in the world.

Manager Mathewson of Cincinnati has picked up a pitching marvel who is only seventeen years old. This kid simply had to break into a major league at this tender age because, it is said, he could not get any other in the amateur or semi-pro ranks who could hold his delivery. His name is Robert, and he hails from Ripley, O. He has struck out nineteen batters since no one could hold Robert's delivery when he got those nineteen strikeouts the catcher merely knocked down the pitched balls and got nineteen assists, a world's record, by throwing out the runner at first base.

Minnesota Has Great Footballer.

Among the Minnesota recruits is an eighteen-year-old freshman who measures six foot one from tip to tip and weighs 241. While at Northwestern the coaches are, glowing in the return of Babe Smith, last year's 250 pound center.

BURNS NEVER ARGUES WITH THE UMPIRES

In striking contrast to the records of these players, who are constantly baiting the umpires and drawing fines and suspensions is that of George Burns, who in the seven years he has been playing professional ball has never been put out of a game for disputing a decision, or for any other cause for that matter. This record extends over his service in the New York State and National leagues.

"I discovered early in my career that it doesn't pay to argue with the umpires about decisions," says George, "and I make it a rule not to do so. I often make a protest when I think I am right, but I try not to be disagreeable and don't nag the officials. For this reason I have managed to get along with the umpires."

At the Theatres

SOISSON THEATRE.

"THE EARTHQUAKE."—The fourth chapter of the thrilling Pathe serial, "The Shielding Shadow," featuring Grace Darmond and Ralph Kellard. The story is getting more and more interesting and this release contains many remarkable scenes of the destruction of an entire village. Lending true to the memory of her dead sweetheart, Jerry Carson, is seeking to clear his name of the stain placed upon it by her husband. "At the Amalgam Ball," the seventh chapter of "Beatrice Fairfax," with Grace Darling in the leading role. "Alice in Society," a three reel L-Ko comedy, with the over-funny Alice Howell. A laugh is injected into each foot. Alice "breaks" into the high life, notably for the "brooks." About the hardest thing a pretty woman can do is to make herself look ridiculous and that is why Alice Howell deserves all the credit that one can give her. "The Voice of the Unseen," an Imp drama with King Baggot. Tomorrow Bessie Eyron and Wheeler Oakman in the five reel drama, "The Cycle of Fate."

THE PARADISE.

"LIFE'S SHADOWS."—A five part Metro production, with Irene Howley and William Nigh in the leading roles, and a Metro comedy, "Nobody Home," featuring Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew, are being presented today. "Life's Shadows" is a screen play distinctly out of the ordinary. It is a decidedly novel story of unusual interest, and has scores of big dramatic moments. The author, William Nigh, who also directed and stars in the production, has given us a photodrama of unusual power and novelty, depicting life, not as it ought to be, but as it really is. An exceptional cast is seen in the support of Mr. Nigh and Miss Howley. Matters are at sixes and sevens in the little town, Purty. The mayor, James Durkel, is unworthy of his trust; Lem Harding and Soudor Coleman cannot agree as to the boundary lines of their property. Lawyer Bradley is considered one of the worst offenders. He is fond of whiskey and has taken as his housekeeper a woman who has no moral status. Hugh Thornbyke, a distiller, returns to the city with his two sons, Rodney and Chester, and daughter, Dulcie. Bradley welcomes them but is repulsed by the father. Dulcie and Chester, however, make friends with him and his influences changes Dulcie from a snobbish girl to a sweet young woman. The whole production is one of charm and is the best presented by Metro for some time. Tomorrow Lou Tellegen will be seen in "The Victory of Conscience," a dramatic and interesting Paramount attraction in five acts. The 15th episode of "Gloria's Romance," starring Billie Burke, the captivating stage and screen star, will also be presented. Wednesday, "The Old Folks at Home," a Triangle production in five acts will be the feature, with an "The Victory of Conscience," the screen idol, will appear in "Youth's Endearing Charm." Friday "Each Pearl a Tear," in which Fannie Ward is seen in the leading role, will be the principal attraction.

STEEL RECORDS.

Mills Make Many New Production Records in October.

Steel Ingot production of Carnegie Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Republic Iron & Steel, Brier Hill Steel and Youngstown Iron & Steel companies in October totaled approximately 431,000 tons and in some cases set new plant records.

Steel Ingot output of Youngstown mills of the Carnegie Steel Company was 127,000 tons and of Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company 121,000 tons. Republic output exceeded 100,000 tons and Brier Hill approximately 60,000 tons. The remainder came from the smaller plant of Youngstown Iron & Steel.

Carnegie Steel set 35 new production records, among which was the rolling of 147 ingots during 12 hours on a 45-inch mill.

CHAPTER XIV.

By Christmas day Sidney was back in the hospital, a little wiser, but still determined to keep her life in the hands of the stars. She had a talk with K. the night before she left. Katie was out, and Sidney had put the dining room in order. K. sat by the table and watched her as she moved about the room.

The past few weeks had been very wonderful to him; to help her up and down the stairs, to lead her in the evenings as she lay on the couch in the sewing room; later, as she improved, to bring small duties home for her, and, having stood over Katie while she cooked them, to bear them in triumph to that upper room—he had not been so happy in years.

And now it was over. He drew a long breath.

"I hope you don't feel as if you must stay on," she said anxiously. "Not that we don't want you—you know better than that."

"There is no place else in the whole world that I want to go to," he said simply.

"I seem to be always relying on somebody's kindness to keep things together. First, for years and years, it was Aunt Harriet; now it is you."

"Don't you realize that, instead of your being grateful to me, I am I who am undoubtedly grateful to you? This is home now. I have lived around—in different places and in different ways, I would rather be here than anywhere else in the world."

But he did not look at her. There was so much that was hopeless in his eyes that he did not want her to see.

"In one way, it will be a little better for you than if Christine and Palmer were not in the house. You like Christine, don't you?"

"Very much."

"She likes you, K. She depends on you, too, especially since that night when you took care of Palmer's arm before we got Doctor Max. I often think, K., what a good doctor you would have been. You knew so well what to do for another."

She broke off. She still could not trust her voice about her mother.

"Palmer's arm is going to be quite straight. Dr. Ed is so proud of Max over it. It was a bad fracture."

He had been waiting for that. Once at least, whenever they were together, he brought Max into the conversation. She was quite unconscious of it.

"You and Max are great friends. I knew you would like him. He is interesting, don't you think?"

"Very," said K.

To save his life, he could not put any warmth into his voice. It would be fair. It was not in human nature to expect more of him.

"Those long talks you have, shut in your room—what in the world do you talk about? Politics?"

"Occasionally."

She was a little jealous of those evenings, when she sat alone, or when Harriet, sitting with her, made excuses under the lamp to the accompaniment of a steady hum of masculine voices from across the hall. Not that she was ignorant, of course. Max came in always, before he went, and, leaning over the back of a chair, would inform her of the absolute blindness of life in the hospital without her.

And K. would stand in the doorway, quietly smoking, or go back to his room and look after in the trunk the woman's broken surgery with which he and Max had been working out a case.

So K. sat by the dining-room table and listened to her talk of Max that last evening together. When the bells announced midnight, Sidney roused with a start. She realized that for some time neither of them had spoken, and that K.'s eyes were fixed on her. The little clock on the shelf took up the burden of the churches, and struck the hour in quick staccato notes.

Sidney rose and went over to K., her black dress in soft folds about her.

"It is born, K."

"He is born, dear."

She stooped and kissed his cheek lightly.

Christmas day dawned thick and white. Sidney left the little house at six, with the street light still burning through a mist of falling snow.

The hospital wards and corridors were still lighted when she went on neighbor asking to take her out for a daylight ride. The swift rebellion of youth against authority surged up in Sidney.

"Very well; I'll go."

Carlotta had gone by that time—gone with hate in her heart and black despair. She knew very well what the issue would be. Sidney would drive with him, and he would tell her how lovely she looked with the air on her face and the snow about her. The jerky motion of the little sleigh would throw them close together. How well she knew it all! He would touch Sidney's hand lovingly and smile in her eyes. That was his method: to play at love-making like an audacious boy, until quite suddenly the cloak dropped and the danger was there.

If she could get Sidney out of the hospital, it would simplify things. She surprised herself that on the Street their interests were wide apart. It was here that they met on common ground.

Carlotta gave the five-o'clock medicine. Then she went down at the table near the door, with the tray in front of her. There are certain thoughts that are at first functions of the brain; after a long time the spinal cord takes them up and converts them into acts almost automatically. Perhaps because for the last months she had done the thing so often in her mind, its actual performance was almost without conscious thought.

Carlotta took a bottle from her medicine cupboard, and, writing a new label for it, passed it over the old one. Then she exchanged it for a case of the same size on the medicine tray.

Throughout the dining room busy and competent young women came and went, and, as they passed, their opportunity was, and went on their way again. In their hands they held the keys, not always of life and death, perhaps, but of ease from pain, of tenderness, of smooth pillows, and cups of water to thirsty lips. In their eyes, as in Sidney's, burned the light of service. The supper room was filled with their soft voices, the rustle of their skirts, the gleam of their still white caps.

When Carlotta came in, she greeted none of them. They did not like her, and she knew it.

Before her, instead of the tidy supper table, she was seeing the medicine tray as she had left it, and she was herself.

Her very soul was sick with fear of what she had done.

CHAPTER XV.

At something after two o'clock that night, K. put down his pipe and listened. He had not been able to sleep since midnight. In his dressing gown he had sat by the small fire, thinking. The content of his first few months on the Street was rapidly giving way to unrest. He was not content with himself or with life found himself again in close touch with it; his odds was deep with it.

And there was a new element. In his thought, at first, that he could fight down this love for Sidney. But it was increasing hard. The instant touch of her hand on his arm, the moment when he had held her in his arms after her mother's death, the thousand small contacts of her returns to the little house—all these set his blood on fire. And it was fighting blood.

Under his native exterior, K. fought many conflicts those winter days over his desk and ledger at the office, in his room alone, with Harriet planning fresh triumphs beyond the partition, even by Christmas's fire, with Christine just across, sitting in silence and watching his grave profile and steady eyes.

He had a little picture of Sidney—a snapshot that he had taken himself, her hair blowing about her, eyes looking out, tender lips smiling. When she was not at home, it sat on K.'s dresser, propped against his collar-box. When she was in the house, it lay under the pillow.

Two o'clock in the morning, then, and K. in his dressing gown, with the picture propped, not against the collar-box, but against his lamp, where he could see it.

He sat forward in his chair, his hands folded around his knee, and looked at it. He was trying to picture the Sidney of the photograph in his old life—trying to find a piece for her. But it was difficult. There had been few women in his old life. His mother had died many years before. There had been women who had cared for him, but he put them impatiently out of his mind.

Then the bell rang.

Christine was moving about below. He could hear her quick steps. Almost before he had heaved his long legs out of the chair, she was tapping at his door outside.

"It's Mrs. Rosenfeld. She says she wants to see you."

He went down the stairs. Mrs. Rosenfeld was standing in the lower hall, a shawl about her shoulders. Her face was white and drawn above it.

"I've had word to go to the hospital," she said. "If thought me you'd go with me. It seems as if I can't stand it alone. Oh, Johnny, Johnny!"

"Where's Palmer?" K. demanded of Christine.

"He's not in yet."

"Are you afraid to stay in the house alone?"

"No, please go."

He ran up the staircase to his room and flung on some clothing. In the lower hall, Mrs. Rosenfeld's sobs had become low moans. Christine stood helplessly over her.

"It's terrible, sorry," she said. "I'm terribly sorry! When I think whose fault all this is!"

Mrs. Rosenfeld put out a work-hardened hand and caught Christine's fingers.

"Never mind that," she said. "You didn't do it. I must do it. I must understand each other. Only pray God you never have a child."

K. never forgot the scene in the small emergency ward to which Johnny had been taken. Under the white lights his Jewish figure looked strangely long. There was a group around the bed—Max Wilson, two or three internes, the night nurse on duty, and the blood.

Sitting just inside the door on a straight chair was Sidney—such a Sidney as he never had seen before, her face colorless, her eyes wide and unseeing, her hands clenched in her lap. When he stood beside her, she did not

Connellsville's Biggest and Best Newspaper

THE COURIER is the only afternoon newspaper in Fayette county which receives the service of the greatest newsgathering organization in the world—The Associated Press.

THE COURIER prints more news, local and telegraph, than any other paper in the county. It prints better and later news of the world than any other afternoon paper circulating in the county, Pittsburgh not excepted.

THE COURIER gives its readers more local news than any other newspaper. Best of all, the news is clean and fit to read.

THE COURIER has the most extensive staff of correspondents. Every important community in Fayette, Westmoreland and Somerset counties has a representative.

THE COURIER offers its readers as many special features as any other newspaper, and more than most. The list includes such distinguished names as Walt Mason, George Fitch, Voight and Sterrett, the comic artists; and other specialists in the field of literature, art and photography.

THE COURIER is the only newspaper in a Pennsylvania town the size of Connellsville which maintains its exclusive correspondent at Washington.

Summed up briefly, THE COURIER spends more money on its news department than any two Fayette county newspapers.

That tells the story why THE COURIER is Connellsville's biggest and best newspaper. It is without a real competitor in its field.

STYLE TIPS.

One is Rows of Silk Stitching Used as Trimming.

Just one whisper today about the new modes for fall. Paris' updatings are over, and the autumn styles are pretty well settled—the Paris styles, that is. American women do not always abide by these styles.

They look over the new modes and select those that appeal to them most, discarding others, and presently the selected modes appear with miraculous swiftness in the shops for everybody to buy. But there are two or three salient features in the Paris styles that cannot be disregarded, even thus early, for their repetition by one designer after another foretells their sure importance as winter style features.

One of these is silk stitching used as a trimming. The Paris frocks and coats are fitted by many seams and darts, all stitched conspicuously in more or less fanciful effect. Tucked flaps, cuffs, revers—they are all garnished with silk stitching, and skirts and tunics have often a score or more of this stitching, done on the machine in effective chain stitch.

Alpaca is a surprise for the coming season. Both alpaca and mohair are being used by some of the couturiers in tailored frocks for day wear. Some of these models are appealingly chic, as, for instance, a simple frock of white twilled alpaca with a full overskirt pressed into little box plaits, and falling almost to the edge of a plush foundation skirt. This frock has a button in back bodice with long, close sleeves and one of the enormous Japanese collars that are to be the rage without doubt. The bodice is loose, flat at back and from and flared into the waist at the sides. It is attached with a stitched seam to the box plaited overskirt, little tabs in the bodice extending down over the plait to emphasize the long waisted effect. Under this modern bodice is a foundation fitted to the waist line and stiffened to insure trimness, though the outer button in back bodice is loose rather than close fitting.

Silks for formal frocks and evening frocks, of course, and Paris whispers that satins and such surfaced silks will be most in favor. Of these a new silk called soie is exquisitely beautiful. Its texture and shades of color, a most enchanting silk for evening gowns of distinction. Worth and Jenny have brought out stunning gowns in velvet. The Jenny model a slip over the head with a high collar and bands of velvet. The Worth is a long gown of velvet made of navy blue chenille with a good deal of black chintilly lace draped airily in the bodice and a large Japanese collar of navy blue chenille draped around throat and shoulders. The combination of navy blue and black lace is particularly elegant and refined, and this gown of velvet is sure to make a decided hit with women of conservative taste. As brilliant as the French gown is, quiet and elegant is a Klein dress of gold and colored silk voile and cream lace, with an underslip of flesh pink silk. The skirt is yards and yards wide, and at the back an odd smush forms a paucal bustle and then trails to the floor, the frock itself being short enough to reveal the feet and ankles.

Grape Juice Pudding. One cupful of grape juice, one cupful of water, one cupful of sugar, one fourth cupful of tapioca, the juice of one lemon, a pinch of salt and stiffly beaten whites of three eggs. Soak the tapioca for fifteen minutes in a cup of water; place in saucepan, add the sugar; when hot add the grape juice; cook until the tapioca is transparent, then add the lemon juice and salt. Let it stand an hour before using; then serve in small coffee cups.

AUTUMN'S TULIPS.

Here's a Stunning Dolly For All Needleworkers.

On a piece of finest linen circularly cut, figured and feathered edges are embroidered a hedge of yellow tulips and Fatigue Injures Temper. More than half of the ill temper and irritability displayed by women are due to fatigue, not only of the body, but of the nerves. Every woman should know how advisable it is to rest daily and to rest in the proper way. After a tiring day, whether it be housework, looking after the children, shopping or paying calls, half an hour's rest will work wonders.

Take off your shoes, put on soft slippers and slip into a loose gown. Pull down the blind; then either lie down or sit in a comfortable easy chair, say, for twenty minutes. Even if you don't sleep you will rest. After bathing, rearranging the hair and getting into fresh clothes you will feel like a totally different woman and equal to any work that may be necessary.
